Seed International – ASDAN China Partnership Statement

ASDAN requires that any centre intending to deliver ASDAN programmes or qualifications in China should first consult with ASDAN China to take advantage of their wealth of experience and unique expertise.

Seed International is one of the trading names of ASDAN China and has been working closely with ASDAN since November 2010. Together we have developed a partnership to offer ASDAN programmes and qualifications to Chinese schools that are seeking to accredit skills training and extra-curricular activities. The Certificate of Personal Effectiveness \(CoPE\) qualification at Level 3 focuses on the skills that Chinese students need in order to be successful in higher education, and provides the necessary certification that parents and schools are looking for. At Level 3, CoPE also attracts UCAS tariff points for students wishing to apply for university or higher education courses in the UK.

Seed International greatly values the structured learning of skills that CoPE Level 3 provides, guaranteeing a rewarding learning experience for students. It adds an extremely beneficial element to Seed International's own programmes, which are already aimed at giving students interesting learning experiences. It also gives students a portfolio of evidence, which can be taken away from their experience with pride and used to demonstrate proof of what they have accomplished.

Educational organisations wishing to teach their own courses in Chinese schools and wanting to have those courses accredited by ASDAN should enquire about Customised Accreditation. ASDAN will only consider such requests where the programmes or courses do not overlap with courses already being offered by ASDAN China or Seed International. Centres wishing to enquire about Customised Accreditation should complete an Expression of Interest form, found on the ASDAN International website.

Currently there is only one example of International Customised Accreditation being offered in China; IEA \(International Educational Awards\) are based in Hong Kong and deliver their own IT programmes that ASDAN accredit and issue certificates for independently. IEA programmes are different to, and separate from, ASDAN programmes and qualifications. Unlike CoPE Level 3, IEA programmes are not linked to the UCAS tariff for university admissions in the UK.
