Transforming life chances through learning

ASDAN Course directory 2019–2020
ASDAN is a curriculum development and awarding organisation

Our vision is to transform life chances through learning
Welcome

I’m excited to welcome you to ASDAN’s course directory for 2019–2020. We have some new and updated courses this year. These remain true to our core principles – building belief and engaging and motivating learners. They also look to the future and the confidence young people will need to help them grow up well.

Our new qualification is the Extended Project Qualification (EPQ). Like all EPQs, it can be used to complement post-16 academic and applied study programmes. What is special about our qualification is the accompanying teaching and learning resources, and guides for students, parents and employers. These are focused on how the ASDAN EPQ can be based on a work experience placement.

Learning through work experience is great way to help young people formulate a clear idea of the work they want to do and the life they want to lead. Evidence suggests that this also helps improve mental health and wellbeing by late teenage years.

Our popular personal development qualification, the Certificate of Personal Effectiveness (CoPE), continues to help young people discover themselves, helping them develop the core skills needed to succeed in education, training and the workplace. CoPE can be used flexibly as part of an academic, vocational or personal development pathway – see pages 17, 19 and 23 for further details of how our courses can be tailored and combined to meet your students’ needs.

What unifies all our courses is the ability to provide personalised learning – a key factor in releasing potential. Our updated website for Lifeskills Challenge provides a tailored curriculum for young people with special educational needs and disabilities as well as those with social, emotional and mental health needs.

We have warmly welcomed Ofsted’s increasing focus on personal development in the new education inspection framework. Our updated PSHE Short Course (p.15) provides a comprehensive programme covering all aspects of the new statutory guidance for sex, relationships and health education. In addition to the student book, we’ve produced a tutor resource pack to support delivery of the course.

We hope this directory will inspire you as you plan for the year ahead.

Our educational principles

Our courses are designed to address barriers to learning by:

Building belief
We support children, young people and educators to develop the confidence, self-esteem and resilience to enjoy and (sometimes) endure learning and to believe in themselves and the value of their learning.

Engaging and motivating learners
We are dedicated to active, relevant and accessible learning; to developing curious, alert and daring learners.

Promoting progress and achievement
We motivate and engage learners through making their progress visible and celebrating genuine achievements, early and often.

Inspiring creativity
We want children, young people and educators to be creative in their learning lives and ambitious for the roles they play at home, at work, and in their communities.

Releasing potential
At our best, we equip children, young people and educators to make full use of their talents and abilities as a force for good in the world.

What we do

ASDAN is a curriculum development and awarding organisation. Our programmes and qualifications transform life chances through learning.

We provide courses to thousands of UK and international schools, colleges, youth centres and training providers. Our programmes and qualifications offer flexible ways of developing and accrediting personal, social and work-related abilities.

Tackling barriers to education

Our starting point is to recognise that children and young people can face a range of barriers to learning, including:

- special educational needs
- financial disadvantage
- low aspiration or limited opportunities for social mobility
- being, or having been, in care
- having caring responsibilities
- English being an additional language
- lack of confidence, self-esteem or motivation for learning
Our vision and values

Our vision as an education charity is to transform life chances through learning by enabling young people to discover, develop and make full use of their abilities. We do this by working with partner educators to foster the personal, social and work-related abilities of learners.

ASDAN is ethical
We are proud to be a charitable organisation – we approach our work with integrity and aim to do the right things in the right ways for the right reasons • We have ambitious plans for growth, but will only grow at a pace that guarantees our quality • We strive to make effective use of technology in socially responsible ways

ASDAN is diverse
We seek to achieve diversity in our outlook, our people and our courses • We are committed to ensuring equality of access and opportunity for learners, educators, our staff and trustees

ASDAN is real
We work closely with educators, learners, employers and community organisations to keep our courses real and relevant • We understand the challenges of teaching and the courage it requires, and support educators in practical ways

ASDAN is collaborative
We work with all those who share our vision to help learners make full use of their abilities • We aim to be good partners – locally, nationally and internationally

ASDAN is innovative
We are future-focused – committed to helping children and young people prepare for their adult lives • We have a restless curiosity about effective pedagogy and assessment

Customised Accreditation

Customised Accreditation is the process by which ASDAN accredits a programme that is already being offered or has been written by another organisation.

Those currently benefitting from Customised Accreditation include:

- The Premier League Charitable Fund
- Holocaust Educational Trust
- Bristol Bears Premiership rugby club
- Fresh Start in Education, which works with children and young people who are out of, or struggling with, education
- Young Gamblers Education Trust (YGAM), which informs, educates and safeguards young people against problematic gambling and social gaming

We offer a bespoke arrangement to provide credit-rated certificates to reward learners’ achievements.

Customised Accreditation provides:

- added value to existing programmes, courses or initiatives, through the awarding of a certificate endorsed by ASDAN
- curriculum recognition by a national awarding body
- an extra incentive for learners to engage with your programmes

Who is this for?

Customised Accreditation is ideal for:

- charities and voluntary organisations that want to encourage participation in projects
- schools seeking a certificated outcome for existing curriculum activities
- businesses or employers that would like to add value to their programme

Structure

Customised programmes are worth up to three ASDAN credits, which learners can put towards ASDAN’s Personal Development Programmes (Bronze, Silver, Gold) or the Certificate of Personal Effectiveness.

Additional benefits

Organisations that register for Customised Accreditation are also entitled to:

- use ASDAN Customised Accreditation branding
- a listing and link on the ASDAN website
- Customised ASDAN certificates
- access additional ASDAN services, such as design, printing and programme planning support

Courses

ASDAN courses provide an engaging curriculum that empowers students through personalised learning and choice.

Our curriculum programmes and qualifications help young people develop knowledge and skills for learning, work and life.

Course categories
- ASDAN originals p.12–17
- ASDAN achieve p.18–19
- ASDAN life p.20–21
- ASDAN work p.22–25
- ASDAN engage p.26–31
ASDAN courses fall into two types – programmes and qualifications. The icons below indicate the different course types.

Programmes

Programmes are structured, light-touch courses that promote active learning and progression and recognise the achievements of learners aged 7–19+

ASDAN offers a choice of programmes that have been designed for learners of all abilities, including those with special educational needs and disabilities.

Our SEND programmes are undertaken by those with a wide range of learning needs in pre- and post-16 education.

Qualifications

ASDAN provides a range of regulated qualifications from Entry level 1 to Level 3. These qualifications are accredited by Ofqual in England, Qualifications Wales, and by CCEA in Northern Ireland.

The qualifications we offer in England and Northern Ireland are listed on the Register of Regulated Qualifications, and those offered in Wales on the Qualifications in Wales database.

Each qualification listed contains the total qualification time (TQT). This relates to the total number of hours required to complete the qualification.

E-learning option

A number of ASDAN courses are available to complete online through our e-learning platforms.

No registration required

These courses are available to purchase directly from ASDAN, without requiring centre registration.

Further information

Detailed information about ASDAN courses can be found on our website.

"ASDAN has given our students the opportunity to have success in life. It has allowed them to take control of their own learning, developing academic skills, organisational skills, life skills and independence."
